

Check out eReadIllinois eMedia on your Android or iOS mobile device

Get started with eReadIllinois

Borrow eBooks and eAudiobooks and read or listen on your mobile device using the boundless app.

1. Download the boundless app from Google Play, the App Store, or wherever you buy your apps.
2. Once you are in the app select your library by name. After selecting your library, enter your library card number and PIN. The default PIN is the last four digits of your phone number. If you have forgotten your PIN, contact the library and we can reset it.
3. Click on your profile name. AXIS360 checkouts will transfer over to boundless.

Get books

To find a book, scroll through titles on the Library home screen. Search for a title in the Search for content box at the top or choose Advanced search. Or touch the Browse icon at the bottom of the screen.

Tap the cover image of a book to get more information. Items with book icon are eBooks. Items with an air pod icon are eAudiobooks.

Select the drop down arrow under Availability and you can select titles that are Available Now. Select Format and choose between eBooks or eAudio titles.

What eMedia is available to check out with a Batavia Public Library card?

Batavia Public Library cardholders have access to a variety of eMedia. Here's what each service offers:

eMediaLibrary offers eBooks in the ePUB and Kindle formats as well as some PDFs. It also offers the widest selection of eAudiobooks in the MP3 format. Most smartphones and tablets can handle multiple formats. If you have a black and white Kindle, check out the Kindle book format only. If you have a black and white Nook, check out the ePUB format only.

eReadIllinois offers eBooks in the boundless format and eAudiobooks in the Acoustik audio format. Most smartphones and tablets can use these formats. Black and white Kindles cannot use this service. Because eReadIllinois is less well known than eMediaLibrary, it is a good place to check for newer or popular titles.

hoopla offers eBooks and eAudiobooks, music albums in the MP3 format, as well as movies and TV shows. A nice feature of hoopla is that items are always available for checkout, but there are a limited number of checkouts available each month.

Kanopy offers streaming movies and TV shows, including some independent films and documentaries. A nice feature of Kanopy is that items are always available for checkout, but there are a limited number of checkouts available each month.

LinkedIn Learning (Lynda.com) offers streaming instructional videos on a wide variety of technical topics.

You will never be charged an overdue fine for a downloadable item. Instead, the item will either disappear or go dormant and you will no longer be able to open it. At that point, you can try to check out the item again or else delete it from your device. Some items can also be renewed, and you will receive a notice a few days before the item is due to give you the option of renewing.

Batavia Public Library belongs to the eMediaLibrary consortium, so you benefit from a larger collection of eBooks purchased by a group of libraries. Batavia Public Library buys some unique eBook titles not purchased by the consortium. These titles are recognizable by the  sign.

Batavia Public Library buys extra copies of popular eBooks to shorten your wait time. Usually you won't be more than 5th on the waiting list. These titles are also marked with the  sign. When the Batavia Public Library buys unique eBook titles or extra copies of eBooks, these copies are available only to Batavia Public Library cardholders. Patrons may not check out eMedia items owned only by other libraries.
