

Check out eReadIllinois eMedia on your Android or iOS mobile device

Get started with eReadIllinois

Borrow music, movies, TV shows and audiobooks and use them on your mobile device using the axis360 app.

1. Download the axis360 app from the Google Store, App store or wherever you buy your apps.
2. Find the app on your screen and click on it.
3. Search for your library. After selecting your library, enter your library card number and PIN. The default PIN is changeme. If you have forgotten your PIN, contact the library and we can reset your PIN to changeme.
4. Check the Remember Me box to save your login information.

Get books

1 To find a book, scroll through titles on the Just Added page, click Browse to browse by subject, or tap the magnifying glass icon in the upper right to search for items by title, author and keyword. Tap the cover image of a book to get more information. Books with a  icon are eBooks. Books with a  icon are eAudiobooks.

2 When you are ready to borrow, click Checkout. Tap Read Now or Listen Now to begin reading.

If the item is not available, click Place on hold, enter your email address, and you will receive an email when the item is available for you to check it out.

*Android users, click on the three squares in the upper right corner, then click Browse.

What eMedia is available to check out with a Batavia Public Library card?

Batavia Public Library cardholders have access to a variety of eMedia. Here's what each service offers:

eMediaLibrary offers eBooks in the ePUB and Kindle formats as well as some PDFs. It also offers the widest selection of eAudiobooks in the MP3 format. Most smartphones and tablets can handle multiple formats. If you have a black and white Kindle, check out the Kindle book format only. If you have a black and white Nook, check out the ePUB format only.

eReadIllinois offers eBooks in the axis360/Blio format and eAudiobooks in the Acoustik audio format. Most smartphones and tablets can use these formats. Black and white Kindles cannot use this service. Because eReadIllinois is less well known than eMediaLibrary, it is a good place to check for newer or popular titles.

hoopla offers eBooks and eAudiobooks. It also offers music albums in the MP3 format, as well as movies and TV shows. A nice feature of hoopla is that items are always available for checkout — you will never have to place things on hold with hoopla.

You will never be charged an overdue fine for a downloadable item. Instead, the item will either disappear or go dormant and you will no longer be able to open it. At that point, you can try to check out the item again or else delete it from your device. Some items can also be renewed, and you will receive a notice a few days before the item is due to give you the option of renewing.

Batavia Public Library belongs to the eMediaLibrary consortium, so you benefit from a larger collection of eBooks purchased by a group of libraries. Batavia Public Library buys some unique eBook titles not purchased by the consortium. These titles are recognizable by the 🏠 sign.

Batavia Public Library buys extra copies of popular eBooks to shorten your wait time. Usually you won't be more than 5th on the waiting list. These titles are also marked with the 🏠 sign. When the Batavia Public Library buys unique eBook titles or extra copies of eBooks, these copies are available only to Batavia Public Library cardholders. Patrons may not check out eMedia items owned only by other libraries.

Some publishers won't sell eBooks to libraries. Some publishers won't sell recently published eBooks to libraries. Some publishers won't sell eBooks to a consortium (such as eMediaLibrary), only to individual libraries as Advantage titles, recognizable by the 🏠 sign. Some publishers set expirations on the eBooks they sell to libraries, so the library must purchase a new copy after a certain timeframe or number of checkouts. Some publishers charge libraries up to four times the hardcover list price for an eBook and often multiple times what an individual would pay for the same eBook.
